Our Firm

Rivero, Gordimer & Company, P.A. (RGCO) has offered a full range of accounting services to meet the needs of our clients since our founding in 1983. Our shareholders work hard to maintain the firm's leadership in an evolving marketplace. To do that, our shareholders rely on the skills and capabilities of our outstanding professionals.

RGCO is a full-service firm offering the essential CPA functions of accounting, assurance, tax, and advisory services along with more specialized areas such as estate and retirement planning, client accounting services, and all other phases of individual, corporate, and partnership taxation. We also provide services including the valuation of closely held businesses, acting as an expert witness in tax and financial matters, financial planning for troubled businesses, and transaction advisory services.

RGCO is currently structured as follows:

Background & Approach

RGCO is unique in that many of our shareholders and professionals have served as partners and associates with some of the largest international accounting firms in the United States. We bring the strength and knowledge of this experience to the local level.

Our approach emphasizes the value of continuity. Our highly-qualified professionals establish long-term, year-round business relationships with our clients. This continuity allows us to anticipate our clients' needs by proactively identifying potential issues and presenting workable solutions.

Our firm is in constant evolution in order to offer the highest possible level of accounting services to our community. Whatever the financial question, there is an RGCO professional who can provide the research and expertise necessary to give the best answer. Our experience and expertise are why our clients rely on our professional guidance year after year.

Commitment & Personal Attention

When you ask our clients why they have retained us, they will tell you that RGCO is a trusted name. It stands for a commitment of time and resources and the personal attention necessary to meet individual needs. Our firm is committed to maintaining a direct, personal, and confidential relationship with you as our client. From routine bookkeeping solutions to major business decisions, we work closely with you and your team to give you the service and information necessary, when you need it.

Our Professionals

RGCO has developed a reputation that sets us apart as the firm sought after by progressive-thinking people. We owe that reputation to the high-caliber professionals we have on staff.

The profession in which we practice is constantly changing. New accounting rules and concepts are continually being formulated by the profession and government; tax laws and their interpretations are in a constant state of flux; and new concepts in business management techniques make yesterday's knowledge obsolete.

All of RGCO's professionals complete a minimum of 40 hours of continuing education per year as well as other less-formal training.

We strive to bring the profession's most qualified individuals to meet your accounting needs, no matter how diverse.
